Tech Center needs repairs

Sinkholes get board's attention

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

The Venice School Board approved seeking bids to repair two sinkholes forming

along the walls at Venice-Lincoln Technical Center.

At Thursday's board meeting, acting director Peter

Ponce said the sinkholes - which he first noticed last spring - have gotten much larger in the past few months.

Ponce said contractors working on another project said it may be a broken drain pipe causing the problem. If so, Ponce said it needed to be repaired to avoid damaging two pumps in the center's basement.

"But the only way to tell is to dig it up," Ponce said.

Acting Venice School
Superintendent Robert

Vickers said it would be a good idea to have it fixed as soon as possible.

"If you wait, you take the risk of damaging the pumps," he said.

Ponce also told the board that a fuel oil tank was

Citizen rips court system

It uses a sledgehammer,
GC alderman charges

By Michael Heil

Is the newly implemented Municipal Court system using its weight to dismiss

some cases

while heavily fining others?

Second Ward Alderman Jim
Miller believes so.

"It's a system with a sledgehammer. It reflects

poorly on our city," said Miller, who added that about 30 cases have been dismissed.

Miller made the comments at Tuesday night's Granite

City Council meeting. His remarks referred to a case involving Howard Kirby, who owns Floral Original Designs, located in the 2800 block of Madison Avenue.

He has been fined $750 a day since Aug. 10 because he is the proprietor of a metal structure that sits next to the shop. The structure, Kirby said, is used for storage.

Kirby, who has been fighting the fines through an attorney, was at the council meeting to speak before the aldermen. He told them that he had no intention to violate the law

when the structure was moved to its location last year.

"No one told me I needed

special zoning," Kirby exclaimed. "I wasn't trying to do anything illegal."

According to Kirby, he received a $100 fine in August

1998 through the Madison

County courts because the structure was in violation of zoning ordinances along

Madison Avenue. After the fine, he said, he thought the Granite officer's advice simple

'Don't talk to strangers,' Sparks advises in talk to kids

By Michael Heil
Staff writer

Children sat side by side Tuesday afternoon on a carpet

at the Granite
City
Public

Library as they eagerly answered questions and listened to Granite City Police Officer Mike Sparks speak about back-to-school safety.

The hour-long program, which was attended by 15

youngsters and a handful of parents, varied at times as Sparks explained briefly how child molesters think and act.

Sparks, the department's public safety officer, sat like a father figure in front of the kids, who ranged from four to 12 years of age. His "bad strangers" theme was simple but effective because it captured the children's attention the whole hour.

The 26-year veteran officer said "bad strangers" could be dressed in any manner, act friendly and know the names of children they want to harm.

They could be lurking anywhere, he said, including near schools.

"Don't talk to strangers,"
he exclaimed.

They like to lure children close to their cars or to their homes, Sparks said, by presented cute, cuddly animals or letting kids play video games.

Holding newspaper clippings pertaining to two child molesters, Sparks said, they used the tactics.

"Don't talk to strangers,"
he exclaimed.

Sparks also said that "bad strangers" like to pick up children walking to school or on their way home or at a bus stop. He told them not to deviate from their path and run when someone presents gifts or candy.

"Don't talk to strangers,"
he exclaimed.

Before the program was over, he moved his body forward, glared at the children and asked them what they should not do.

Most raised their hands and yelled, "don't talk to strangers."

Donna Asbeck, acting children's librarian, said afterward she was thankful Sparks addressed the youngsters because of his keen insight.

"He's an interesting speaker and very informative," she said.

Barbara Barrera of West

Granite, who brought her two children, said Sparks was an effective speaker.

Health bill ignores legal accountability

By Sen. Dick Durbin

The U.S. Senate recently passed a Republican version of managed care reform that ignores an issue at the very heart of reforming health maintenance organizations — legal accountability.

If we did nothing else but remove the special immunity that HMOs currently enjoy when they maim or kill a patient, we would have achieved a major victory for America.

Unfortunately, the majority in the U.S. Senate voted to continue the special protections given to HMOs.

Most people are stunned to know that if you received your insurance through your employer, you cannot take a health insurance company to court if they hurt you.

Since 1974, a federal law known as ERISA (the Employee Retirement Insurance Security Act) has protected health insurance companies from being sued. You might ask how many other businesses in America have such a deal that they can avoid all legal consequences if they injure or kill you.

The answer is none. The Republican majority, which parades values and responsibility, last month decided to continue to let HMOs off the hook when they cause patients harm. They did not want to hold the HMOs responsible in the most basic form of adjudication in our country, a jury of peers. At the bidding of the health insurance companies, the Republicans were determined to stop 123 million Americans from ever having the chance of a day in court, should their HMO make a decision that results in injury or death.

The Republicans trotted out a litany of flimsy arguments: that you cannot sue your way to quality health care; that costs would spiral out of control; and that the courts would be deluged. One state, Texas, has passed comprehensive HMO protection with full legal accountability over the veto of Texas Gov. George W. Bush. Since enactment of the Texas HMO liability bill two years ago, only three cases have been filed in the Texas courts. Premiums have not increased above the average increases nationwide. In fact, premium increases have been less than the nation-

When asked about the effects of lawsuits on premiums, an Aetna officer said, "We would charge the same premium to a customer with the ability to sue as we do those who do not have the ability to sue. Why? Those judgments to date have been a very small component of overall health care costs."

Yet, Republicans continue to protect insurance companies rather than patients. They strip people like Melissa Wileman of all remedies.

Melissa had a cancerous peripheral neuroectodermal tumor. Chemotherapy reduced the tumor by 70 percent, but a bone marrow transplant was necessary. Her insurer initially refused to pre-certify the procedure.

After being contacted by Melissa's attorney and the Pennsylvania Insurance Department, the insurance company reconsidered and agreed to pay for the treatment. But Melissa's condition had worsened due to the delay and she had become too weak for the transplant. Three months later, she died. The courts held that ERISA precluded her family from any legal remedies. Death by delay had no cost to the insurer, but it cost Melissa her life.

Republicans tout their bill's external appeals process for people like Melissa. What they fail to tell you is that the Republican bill allows the HMO to pick and pay the reviewer, hardly an independent, unbiased appeals process. As the sad case of Melissa Wileman shows, 109 days of denied care may permanently disable or even kill you. Without legal accountability, there is no cost to an unscrupulous HMO that stretches out the appeals process to the maximum time allowed.

Under current law, if you purchase your own insurance, or are in a Medicare or Medicaid HMO, or are a state or local employee, you can get full legal redress if you are injured by your HMO. Don't all Americans deserve legal protection?

Congress has created a privilege clause prohibiting us from holding health insurance companies accountable under the law. Americans deserve better.

Clinton plan raises too many questions

By Rep. John Shimkus

No senior should have to worry about whether they can afford the medicines they need to stay healthy.

The recent recommendations of the bipartisan Medicare Commission offered us an excellent opportunity to work in bipartisan fashion to protect and preserve Medicare. However, the President did not support the bipartisan plan that the two Democratic senators on the Commission favor.

The Clinton-Gore proposal raises more questions than it answers. Their plan increases monthly premiums for seniors, gives the government more power over seniors' health-care decisions and actually cuts Medicare.

I am opposed to any plan that puts Washington bureaucrats and politicians in charge of seniors' health-care decisions. Also, we need to strengthen, not weaken, Medicare.

I support a plan that will give seniors access to the same kind of health insurance that I have as a member of Congress. I get to choose from several health plans, all with comprehensive benefits and pharmaceutical coverage.

Fortunately, nearly two-thirds of seniors already have some insurance coverage that help pay for prescription drugs through Medigap plans, private employer plans, Medicare-Plus Choice, Medicaid or other state assistance programs. These seniors, who already have some prescription coverage, should not be forced into a big government plan.

Speaker of the House Dennis Hastert and Senate Majority Leader Trent Lott recently issued a joint statement. "We want every senior and future retiree to have the best possible health care, including access to affordable prescription drugs," they said. "We look forward to examining the President's proposal, learning the answers to our questions and working toward a bipartisan solution to strengthen the retirement security for our seniors and their families."

I support enhancing seniors' access to prescription drugs, while at the same time, giving seniors a choice, keeping costs down, strengthening the Medicare system for the long term and not adding to government's role in seniors' health care decisions.

Board's decision is perplexing

TO THE EDITOR:

I am concerned about the impending closing of the Madison County Nursing Home and the Sheltered Care Home and I am perplexed about the way the board pushed the initiative through without providing knowledge to the voters concerning the homes tax issues.

It seems to me that in January of 1998, the board proposed the tax increases in hopes that it would be defeated in the March, 1998 election. The board did not spend the eligible funds to clarify to the public that by defeating the proposed tax and bond increase the homes would be closed.

The board's decision, for me, raises many questions.

First, was there a need for a tax increase, when in fact the homes were solvent. Records show that even though the County projected a deficit there was actually a $1-$2 million yearly balance since 1993. This leads me to believe the County Board was wanting to end their responsibilities to the public and get out of the nursing homes business.

Second, are the needs of the Madison County residents a top priority at this point when the board's solution is to turn to private care. I find it absurd that we would turn to private care when the Madison County Nursing Home was rated first in the county out of 32 facilities and eighth in the state out of 820 facilities because of the high quality care given to residents.

As it stands now, the only hope is if the Illinois Health Facilities Planning Board (IHFPB) denies the request to close the Nursing Home and turn over the Sheltered Care Home to a private developer.

As the Madison County elderly population continues to grow, there is a definite need for a County Nursing Home and Shelter Care Home. We can help in the fight to keep these homes open by writing to the IHFPB, by letting them know our desire to have quality care available. The public can have an impact on the IHFPB's decision in the Aug. 19-20 meeting concerning the outcome of the County Boards proposed plan.

Stick-wielding man robs gas station

$200 taken in incident; Granite City police investigating

By Michael Heil
Staff writer

A man wearing a green mask and wielding a hockey stick robbed a gas station attendant of $200 early Monday morning.

The incident occurred about 3:41 a.m. at Len's Amoco Service Station in the 2000 block of Pontoon Road. According to authorities, the attendant heard a noise on the west side of the station. He darted to the area to find the masked man kneeling next to a car, waving the hockey stick.

A police report stated that the man sprang to his feet and told the attendant, "You give me all your money or I'm going to club you." The attendant went into the station, took the money from the cash register and gave it to the man, who was wearing a blue shirt and blue jeans. He fled on foot, running through an alley in the direction of Maryville Road. A K-9 police dog picked up the suspect's scent, which led to a residence. Granite City police said the owner is not a suspect and has cooperated with authorities. The case is being investigated by Det. Jeff Parker of the Granite City Police.

Collinsville council facing major decision on team

By Val McDowell

The Collinsville City

Council is about to face one of its first official decisions concerning the proposed Gateway

Grizzlies minor league baseball team.

At next week's regular meeting, the council will vote on whether to pay $10,640 toward a feasibility study on the proposal. Collinsville Mayor Stan Schaeffer supported the funding, while at least one councilman, Don Koonce, indicated he may not support it.

During this week's workshop session, Koonce said he had never agreed for a professional baseball team to come to Collinsville. The total cost of the study is $42,500, Schaeffer said, with three other entities planning to help cover study's cost.

They are Madison County, the Collinsville Convention Authority, and the Grizzlies investor group, Gateway Baseball LLC, which is headed by Rich Sauter, president of East County Enterprises Inc. Each has already agreed to cover one fourth of the study's cost, Schaeffer said.

The results of the study would be used to attract bond buyers to invest in a stadium for the team, Schaeffer said.

The city is considering putting the stadium on approximately 20 acres of land near Interstate 255 and 55-70, very close to the Gateway Center. The stadium's cost is estimated to be $5 million, but responsibility for assuming debt incurred through bond sales has yet to be settled.

First Presbyterian holds drama camp

The third drama music camp for children was held recently at First Presbyterian Church.

The two-week program is a study of music and drama in the church with the presentation of a musical at the end of the two weeks.

This year, the title of the production was "The Rock Slinger and His Greatest Hit," the Biblical story of David and Goliath.

Throughout the two weeks, the children experienced improvisation, action, games, a field trip, make-up, choreography and music study. Following the musical, members of the cast and those who assisted with the work were introduced by Beverly Scroggins, who was the director. A sweatshirt showing the camp logo was given to each of the individuals and to Dr. Lewis Trotter, pastor.

Citizen criticizes new court system was assessed a $250 fine in June through the Municipal Court system.

He was fined an additional $750 in July and was told by a Municipal Court judge that if he did not have the structure removed within 30 days, he would be fined $250 a day after the 30-day period expired.

Kirby said he does not think the fines are justifiable.

"I've been treated unfairly by the city, even though I've had my business here for some time," Kirby said. "Since the new court system went into effect, I've been fined repeatedly and excessively despite the fact that I've tried to have the structure removed."

Kirby plans to attend a Planning and Zoning Commission meeting in the hope that the issue can be resolved.

Jeff Griffith, acting Municipal Court judge, said that the Municipal Court system has been just.

"The fines have been lesser or comparable to those under the previous system," he said. "Large fines are the result of people who do not comply."

The Municipal Court system went into effect in May. It allows city enforcement officials - fire, building and zoning inspectors - to write citations and allows a Municipal Court judge to issue fines ranging from $25 to $750. Other cities are using a similar system.

removed from the center Aug. 3, but the contractors were going to let the dirt near the excavation settle before finishing the job.

The board also approved a bill for about $5,000 to have water and some remaining fuel oil in the tank taken away and processed.

After meeting in executive session, the board also approved hiring several more teachers for the high school, including a business, English and physical education teacher.

Vickers said the district is still looking for a math teacher, but was unsure if they would be able to find one before the school year started.

In that case, he said they would just have to juggle classes around.

The high school vacancies must be filled because the teachers are specialists, while elementary school vacancies have been unfilled because of questions about enrollment for the coming year.

Vickers said he still has not received word from the Illinois State Board of Education on how it will deal with the district's non-resident student issue.

The board also approved Sept. 9 as the annual School Night for Scouting Boy Scout recruitment event.

Park District sponsoring popular one-day trips through rest of year

The Granite City Park District will be sponsoring one-day trips throughout the remainder of the year.

There will be one trip per month for the remaining months of 1999.

On Sept. 28, a day has been planned in the Valmeyer/Maestown/Waterloo area.

Maestown is an early German settlement near the Mississippi River that offers a glimpse back to the life and time of the early settlers.

A guide will accompany the group through what remains of the "old town" Valmeyer and what remains after the Great Flood of 1993 and then visit "new" Valmeyer on the bluffs.

Lunch will be at a German restaurant in Foster's Pond, with a full plate of German food and apple strudel for dessert.

Other sights and attractions will be visited along the way. Tickets for the trip will go on sale Aug. 26.

The October trip will be Oct. 17 to the Luxenhau Farm in Marthasville, Mo. for Deutsch Country Days. This is a unique and authentic recreation of early German life in Missouri.

Sixty-plus primitive skills will be exhibited. Juried artisans will demonstrate their talents such as Scherenschnitte, apple pressing, sad ironing, basket making, cornhusk doll-making, German folk art, root beer brewing, open pan sorghum cooking, sausage stuffing and many more.

Many unusual crafts will be for sale. Included in the cost will be a tour of an 1830 log home that was featured in Country Home and Country Living magazines.

Tickets for this trip will go on sale Sept. 23.

The November trip will be on Nov. 18. This day will include each person making a gingerbread house to take home.

A full lunch will be included with shopping and browsing in Belleville to view the Gingerbread houses that are displayed in the businesses.

This is a very popular event in Belleville, with awards given for the best creations.

This trip will go on sale Oct. 7.

December's trip will be Dec. 19 to Steelville, Mo., for the Christmas Music Show. This trip will leave around 11:30 a.m. and return after dinner in the evening. A full meal will be enjoyed after the show.

A drive through areas lit with Christmas decorations has also been planned to finish off the evening.

Tickets for this trip will go on sale Nov. 17.

More details, including the cost, will be given in a press release a week or so before the date that tickets go on sale.

Watch the local news media for this information.

The tickets for the trips listed above will be on sale at 8 a.m. at the Wilson Park Ice Rink on the days announced.

If more information is needed, please call Sue Champion at her residence, 451-1212, or the Wilson Park Office at 877-3059.

Ryan signs sexual assault extension bill

By Val McDowell
Staff writer

Gov. George Ryan signed a bill last week that extends the statute of limitations on sexual assault crimes for victims.

The law would also include those who were under 18 years of age at the time of the offense.

Dubbed "Melissa's Law" it was signed by Ryan Aug. 11 and was introduced in part in response to the case of Melissa Gaines. It was co-sponsored in the House by state Rep. Jay Hoffman (D-Edwardsville).

Melissa Gaines, of the Kankakee area, was molested as a child but missed the deadline of reporting the crime by one year after receiving counseling as an adult.

"By extending the statute of limitations on sexual assault crimes against children, we acknowledge that it often takes years for victims - especially young victims - to come to grips with extent of their pain and injury," Ryan said in a written statement released after the signing.

"But that doesn't lessen the severity of the crime and shouldn't allow such deeds to go unpunished."

The bill extends the statutes of limitations to 10 years after the date of the offense or 10 years after the victim turns 18, if a minor at the time of the offense.

Offenses covered under the bill include criminal sexual assault; aggravated criminal sexual assault.

League still sorting out penalties for players

By Garen Vartanian
Staff Writer

The curtain officially has closed on the 1999 Mon-Clair League baseball season - and without a league champion.

MON-CLAIR BASEBALL

Due to a bench-clearing brawl between Waterloo and Valmeyer at St. Peter and Paul Field on Sunday, umpires suspended the championship contest in the fourth inning.

Mon-Clair League officials met with Waterloo manager Vern Moehrs and Valmeyer manager Dennis Pieper in an executive meeting Monday at the Millstadt Knights of Columbus on Monday, with all parties deciding against continuing the suspended contest.

This is the first time in the Mon-Clair League's 34-year history the playoffs have been cancelled.

"League officials and the managers of each team decided to cancel games six and seven of the playoffs," Mon-Clair League president Mel Patton said. "There will be no playoff champion. It tears me apart to see it end like this. But it's a situation where we feel we've got to end it. We don't want to make it worse."

The chaos began with one out in the top of the fourth Sunday and Valmeyer leading 3-1.

Wallace hopes for hometown advantage in RamTough 200

Middle brother in St. Louis' first family of racing has eyes on return to NASCAR Winston Cup series

Mike Wallace is a man who knows what he wants, knows what it takes to get there, and figures he's with a team that thinks the way he does.

"I'm now with an owner who is as obsessed with winning as I am," said the middle brother of St. Louis' first family of racing, who drives for Jim and Marlene Smith in the Ultra Motorsports Team ASE Ford. "This is a team where you expect to win, or finish well. It is unacceptable when we don't."

Wallace and crew chief Tim Kothuth proved the point in the very first race of the 1999 season, bringing Wallace his first NASCAR Craftsman Truck Series victory at Homestead, Fla. They came back with a win in May at Pike's Peak International Raceway at Colorado Springs, and have added four more finishes in the Top 5.

In the past two outings, Wallace & Co. have been knocking on the door twice - finishing second to Dennis Setzer at Loudon, N.H., on Aug. 1, and third to current NCTS points leader Greg Biffle and Stacy Compton at Indianapolis Raceway Park on Aug. 5. They intend on stepping up Aug. 20 at Gateway International Raceway during the Missouri-Illinois Dodge Dealers Ram Tough 200 Presented by Pepsi.

"We've got things back where we're right on the edge of getting a win, and I would like nothing better than to get it in St. Louis," said Wallace, the middle brother of St. Louis' own Wallace family of racing.

It looked as though Wallace might have enough to better Setzer in the duel at Loudon. But a late yellow brought out the NASCAR Craftsman Truck Series' unique finishing rule - the checkered flag won't fall without two final laps under the green - and the gas-tank blues may have gotten to the Wallace camp.

"I thought I did (have enough to make a run), but I was a little tight right in the middle of the corner," Wallace said. "I had to wait just a hair longer than he did to get in the gas. I drove it on down in there, but we were close on gas mileage at the end but finishing second wasn't bad."

Those early-season wins continued a streak that has seen Ultra Motorsports claim victory in at least one race during each of the NASCAR Craftsman Truck Series' five seasons.

"It's a tough adjustment, moving to a new

Simpson and Tomlinson join forces at McKendree

Duo joins Cavins as former Warriors playing for program

Roxanne Simpson took her time before deciding on a course of action for the fall soccer season.

COLLEGE SOCCER

But the two-time junior college All-American from Lewis & Clark Community College finally settled on McKendree College two weeks ago.

"I just kind of waited until I got a good offer," said Simpson, a 1997 graduate of Granite City High School. "The coach (Tim Strange) was really nice to me when I met with him. Some of my friends from Lewis & Clark came over."

"I wanted to get school paid for and keep playing soccer. I wanted to play soccer where I was comfortable and play with people I know. Crystal Cavins just graduated from Granite City and she is coming here to play. Staci Dowdy (a Granite City grad) is coming over to serve as the assistant coach with the girls team. That's kind of nice, because I played with her when we were younger. Tim Henson (a member of the St. Louis Ambush) went to Granite City and played and he is helping Coach Strange this year."

Tara Tomlinson, a fellow 1997 graduate of Granite City High School, also is transferring into McKendree and will be rooming with Simpson.

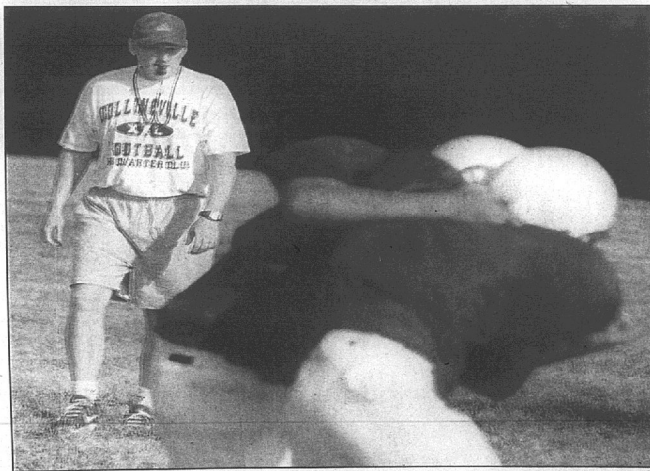

Tomlinson signed early in the spring.

"They gave me a good deal and offered to pay for school," Tomlinson said. "I know some of the girls on the team, like Roxanne and all the girls from Granite. I think that makes it easier to play and adjust to the changes. It makes everything more comfortable."

Simpson credited Elks Soccer Club coaches Terry and Eric Mitchell for laying the foundation for her soccer career.

"They have coached me since I was 12," Simpson said. "I have always been real close to them. They are like a family. They've played Lakers baserunner Craig Hoffmann attempted to steal second on a hit-and-run play. Hoffmann spiked Waterloo second baseman Neil Fiala while being tagged out.

The two exchanged blows and wrestled at second base, causing the benches to empty.

Waterloo Police, the Monroe County Sheriff's Department and the Illinois State Police eventually were needed to restore order. No arrests were made. League officials feared continuing the game could produce increased hostility between the two communities.

"Even if it is remotely possible, we do not want to be a part of it," Patton said. "We do not want to be used to drive a wedge in the communities. We want to be a catalyst to bring the communities together. We want to allow for a cool-down period. That would be unworkable on our part to make a bigger problem. We don't want to do it."

Another factor in the decision is both teams have several players leaving for college this week.

"Both managers said they could put some bodies on the field but that it would not be representative of the quality in a championship game," Patton said. "It would not be the most attractive thing."

Fiala was taken by ambulance to St. Anthony's Hospital in south St. Louis County. He received 75 stitches to close an 8-inch wound just below the knee on his left leg. Fiala was released from the hospital later Sunday.

Patton will wait to decide on disciplinary action for Hoffmann and other participants in the brawl. Patton planned to review the three umpires' reports and the police reports before reaching any verdicts.

"We still do not have all the facts," Patton said. "I've talked to some fans, some players and looked at some pictures. The feeling was, until we get all the facts, we don't want to make a decision on any disciplinary action. This isn't just about Hoffmann and Fiala. Some players went in there as peacemakers. There were other players that went into the bundle swinging."

"We want to get all of them."

Patton now has concerns with the league's image and its future.

"We do not want any young player to think this is acceptable behavior," Patton said. "I think we have a lot to prove. I think we have to reestablish ourselves in the eyes of the community that we can discipline ourselves and the teams and, to some extent, the fans. We intend to do that."

worked their tails off getting us competitive from the start of the season.

"We're not happy with our consistency," said Wallace, who moved from eighth to sixth in the points with his strong first week of August. "As I said, this is a team that expects to be competitive every race."

Still, it is a step up from last year, when Wallace was 13th in the season points with the Schrader operation, with a season-best second-place finish at California Speedway and a couple of Bud Poles. He also had a strong outing at Gateway, starting 19th and moving up to eighth in the inaugural Ram Tough 200.

Wallace has his sights on the Winston Cup circuit, from which he was released in the middle of the 1997 season. "I've enjoyed my time in the NASCAR Craftsman Truck Series, but I still want to go to Winston Cup racing," Wallace has said.

Bud Pole qualifying for the Ram Tough 200 begins this afternoon evening for the NASCAR Craftsman Trucks.

Melm scored one goal and dished out two assists last fall for the boys soccer team. In the spring, he was a member of the Kahloks track team.

Bowling netted five goals and had seven assists for the girls soccer team.

"I feel winning this is really an honor," Bowling said. "Chris Melm is like my best friend. He is a brilliant guy."

Bowling will leave for Bradley University in Peoria later this month to begin work toward a degree in physical therapy. She said her competitive soccer days are behind her, however she does look forward to playing intramural soccer."

Granite City club set to open season

Festivities planned for Saturday include parade, exhibition games

By Rick Broome
Staff writer

The Granite City Soccer Club is open for business.

The children that play soccer at the club will get their chance to stand and be counted at the Charles Melvin Price Army Support Center Saturday, starting at 9 a.m.

"We have approximately 70 teams and a camp for four-year-olds," said Judy Stroehmer, president of the Granite City Soccer Club. "We set up to parade as groups. The commander of the base, Lieutenant Commander Deborah Williams, has graciously allowed us to hold it at the base. She will be on hand to offer the kids a few words. We are hoping to get Tim Henson from the St. Louis Ambush to drop by as well."

"After we've had the introductions the kids parade through and sit in their designated areas by groups. We have three exhibition games, starting with the youngest age-group of teams in the Pepsi Division. They have a short 10-minute game. Then we move up to the Junior Pee Wee Division, and two boys teams play each other. Then we have a game between girls teams in the Junior Senior Midget Division, our oldest group."

The Granite City Soccer Club is dependent on contributors for the fiscal health of the organization.

"Local businesses donate cash, gift certificates or different items which we raffie off," Stroehmer said. "Every kid gets a ticket and we raffie off all the items. They range from Cardinals baseball tickets to soccer balls or other soccer-related items. There are all kinds of different things for the kids."

"We get a lot of business involved and have great involvement from the community. Saturday, we read off their names to the crowd to recognize and acknowledge their contributions. They are the ones that allow us to have this for the kids."

We have been collecting for months to have as many prizes as we can for the kids (Club Vice President) Rick Harper has been in charge of doing the collection of donations. He and the rest of the board members put in many hours of their own time getting things set up for us. It was a real team effort.

"We will also announce that the fundraiser will start at the beginning of September. We have a cash-raffie and each team has to sell 100 $1 tickets. We have prizes of $1,000, $500 and $250. A local business, Werner's, donated the tickets, and that really helped us out because buying the tickets eats into the profit. All the proceeds from the sale go back into the program. We are a non-profit organization and we use that money to pay officials, cut the grass, line the fields, and buy supplies."

But Saturday is all about the athletes.

"It's kind of a celebration to open the soccer season and allow the kids to be shown off to their parents and grandparents in the parade," Stroehmer said. "If the Pepsi group, the youngest kids, a boys team will play a girls team. It shows the parents, this is where they are at the age of 5."

Then the next game, here is where they are at the age of 8. Then with the Midget Division, these girls are ready to go into high school, and the game shows the range of skills they have developed in our program. But mainly it's just a way to celebrate the beginning of the season."

FROM LAST WEEK

WINSTON CUP SERIES

Jeff Gordon, mired in a season that is by his standards mediocre, started third but was out front by the second lap of the Frontler at the Glen, the only official NASCAR race without a number in the title at the only track that does not refer to itself as either a speedway, a super-speedway or a raceway.

From lap two on, everyone else was playing tag football while Gordon was playing smash-mouth. He led 55 out of 90 laps and probably would have led more had not his pursuers insisted in playing strategic games designed to give them feeling track position.

Others — most notably the long-shot runner-up, Ron Fellows — were impressive, but only Gordon was dominant.

Gordon, who has won more races (47) at age 28 than any driver in NASCAR history, was not always so prolific on the twisty, turning road courses.

"It's not hard for me to go back just three or four years ago when a good race for me was if I stayed on the track and didn't miss a shift," Gordon said.

Those days seem like ancient history. Gordon has now won five road races in a row: Watkins Glen in 1997-99 and Sears Point 1998-99. No one has done that before, not even road-racing specialist Dan Gurney, who won three in a row and four out of five at the old Riverside, Calif., course in the 1960s.

FUD OF THE WEEK

Joe Nemechek vs. Bill Elliott

Nemechek blamed Elliott for the late incident that relegated him to a 30th-place finish. "I drove my car in way too deep and here comes Bill Elliott, and I knew there was no way he was going to make it," said Nemechek. "I still had to go around the corner or else get penalized. When he runs into my back tire, it's kind of stupid. It's a shame. The last lap, running good, the car is torn all to heck. We were running eighth and ended up 38th (actually 30th) or something. ... I don't know what Bill Elliott was thinking."

"I got inside of Joe Nemechek and we got together," said Elliott. "hard enough that I had to finish with a flat left-front tire. We went from ninth to 28th, but that's just last-lap racing sometimes."

NASCAR This Week's Monte Dutton gives his opinion: "Excuse me, but didn't this start because Nemechek, by his own admission, drove into the corner 'way too deep'?"

PROFILE

David Green

David Green has not won a race in 59 starts.

By Monte Dutton
 NASCAR This Week

To this point, David Green has never been able to duplicate his Busch Grand National success in Winston Cup.

A former World Karting Association champion, Green won the BGN championship in 1994 and was second in 1996. He has been rookie-of-the-year runner-up in both BGN and Cup, but his best-ever Cup finish is 16th at Charlotte in 1997.

Green's current sponsor, Kodak, is leaving at the end of the season, but his team got a lift at Indianapolis with a third-place qualifying effort.

AGE: 41
 HOMETOWN: Born and raised in Owensboro, Ky., lives in Archdale, N.C.

WIFE: Diane
 CHILDREN: Kaylee Rae (2)
 CAR: No. 41 Kodak Chevrolet Monte Carlo, owned by Larry Hedrick

RECORD: 59 starts, 0 poles, 0 wins, 0 top-five finishes, 0 top-10s, more than $1.5 million in career earnings

FIRST: Start (Feb. 23, 1997, at Rockingham), pole (none), win (none)
 HOW DID IT FEEL TO QUALIFY SO WELL AT INDY? "For the guys from 30th down in the point standings, it was probably the most pressure-packed day of the season. We needed it, and we need a few great performances on race day. ... Before you can win a race or finish in the top 10, you've got to be participating."

WHAT IS THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN QUALIFYING AND RACING? "For us to qualify at Indy as well as we did, we had to put all our eggs in one basket. For one lap, it all worked out. We just had to suck it up and go, and that's what we did. Qualifying is one thing and the race is something else. Between Thursday (pole day) and Saturday (race day), we had to work four times as hard just to get to where we needed to be."

YOU FINISHED 20TH IN THE BRICKYARD 400 AFTER STARTING THIRD. WHAT HAPPENED? "We were decent. We had very little practice the day before the race. What little we did, we couldn't find the handle. I was very concerned. The guys worked hard. We threw a lot of stuff at it, but I just didn't sleep well the night before the race, knowing we didn't have a good 'happy hour' (the final practice). The pit stops were good, but we just caught an unlucky break, and maybe Indy will be a turnaround for us. The competition gets tougher and tougher, but we'll see what happens."

Letters From Our Readers

Dear NASCAR This Week,
 My son and I are having a dispute as to how they work, and if so, how do they maintain their high level of performance when they work together on race day?

Beverly Kunkle
 Frankfort, Ky.

There are almost as many answers to this question as there are teams. Some teams have pit crews that are full time or close to it, meaning that they work out and practice together on a daily basis between races. Others have crewmen who work at the race shops in another capacity, such as engine builder or fabricator. Some pit crews are made up of weekend volunteers who work on weekends for little more than food and travel expenses. There are all kinds of combinations.

Dear NASCAR This Week,
 Can you tell me the Winston Cup champions for the years 1981, 1982, 1983, 1985 and 1992?

Wendy DeFries
 Lebanon, Pa.

In order, Darrell Waltrip, Darrell Waltrip, Bobby Allison, Darrell Waltrip and Alan Kulwicki.

Dear NASCAR This Week,
 I noticed a mistake in your July 21 Trackside Trivia. You asked who drove the "Tim Flock Special in the Southern 500? (Darrell Waltrip) drove this in the TransSouth Financial 400 (the spring race at Darlington).
 J. Nicholas Exley
 Springfield, Ga.

You are absolutely correct. The source material we used was in error, but we should have caught it.

Trackside Trivia

1. What NASCAR track has the longest grandstand in the world?
2. What was Curtis Turner's hometown?
3. Who was the first driver to win a Grand National (now Winston Cup) race in a car with a three-digit number?

ANSWERS

Jennifer Ohlendorf's essay on "Goals in Life" has won her a scholarship from Papa John's Pizza and another

She left Sunday for Kirksville, where she will be attending Truman State.

The Saints Alive senior group of the Madison County Baptist Association, met at the Baptist Center on Aug. 10 and went to the Gateway Arch in St. Louis. The vans used were from Second Baptist Church. Drivers were Leroy Smith and Carlos LeVau.

There was a two-hour wait to take the tram up, so members looked around the museum and the gift shop and then went on to Laclede's Landing and looked in several shops until the Old Spaghetti Factory opened, where the group ate.

Elwynn Wilkerson from Second Baptist Church and the van drivers.

Those taking the trip were Vera Kirkpatrick, Kathy Sargent, Louise Acocks, Myra Grote, Betty Smith, Virginia Arakake and Dorothy Watkins. The next Saints Alive meeting will be at 10:30 a.m. Oct. 4 at State Park Baptist Church in Collinsville. There will be a talent show and potluck lunch at noon. Visitors are always welcome.

The Better Breathers Club held their meeting Tuesday at St. Elizabeth's Medical Center. Everyone was glad to see Karen Lanier, who works with the American Lung Association and has spoken to the group several times in the past. She accompanied two special guest speakers, Allison Yorston and Michael L. Mark, manager of the Resource Center, which is located in Springfield.

They presented interesting slides and gave out pamphlets explaining all about clean air and how everyone can help to improve their lung health.

When you are looking for answers to your lung health questions, the Resource Center can provide you with the answers you need by talking directly to a registered nurse/respiratory therapist by calling toll-free (800) LUNG-USA (588-4972).

AUGUST 19, 1999

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY:

Aug. 19. Although it may vary from time to time, you could be luckier career wise than you've been for a number of years. Make the most of things when you feel Lady Luck's presence.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)

Even though the joy of achievement could be your greatest source of gratification today, it's questionable whether you'll be willing to put out the necessary effort to do your best.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)

Because of your uncharacteristic fluctuating moods today, it will be difficult for friends or cohorts to figure out what you want, and thereby do nothing to appease you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)

If you get too greedy about an important commercial involvement today, you could blow the whole deal. Don't expect nor ask for more than that to which you're entitled.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)

Don't carry the admirable qualities of being independent and self-reliable to extremes today. Instead, find the middle ground by being a team player when called for.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)

Should you lack method or purpose today, you won't be as pleased with your progress as you could have been. Avoid taking two steps forward and one backwards.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)

You must first accept your friends for what they are, faults and all, in order for them to be receptive towards you today. Being intolerant will cause them to react similarly.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)

Family members may not do as you say today, but they will do as you do, so lead by example. This will become especially important when dealing with any critical domestic matter.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)

It is best to have your facts ready today before espousing something of importance to others. Otherwise, don't expect them to take what you say at face value.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)

Rather than grab something

Point-TV at Excalibur: not your average Saturday night

By Curtiss A. Hartley
Staff writer

Every Saturday night nearly 1,000 people cram into a nightclub in Collinsville with the hopes of being seen on Point-TV.

For the past four years, radio station KPNT, The POINT, has taken hold of the reigns at the Excalibur Nightclub to videotape a frenzied, two-hour dance show for broadcast the following week at 11:35 p.m. on St. Louis' ABC affiliate, KDNL-Channel 30.

It's one of a handful of nightclubs in the greater St. Louis metropolitan region where young adults under 21 years old can dance the whole night through.

Excalibur Nightclub, at the junction of I-55/70 and Illinois 157 in Collinsville, bills itself as THE party place for those 18 to 20 years old.

The loud, thumping, non-stop music and dark, smoky atmosphere set the stage for a night of partying where talking with someone means literally mouth-to-ear communication.

Excalibur is open Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights, and will be opening on Tuesday nights soon, with college students on the loose getting back into session. Summer is the slow season for the club.

When The POINT comes in on Saturday nights, one of the radio station's DJs handles the announcing by revving the atmosphere by shouting over the loud music, encouraging the crowd to shout and cheer.

From time to time, he will also fire squirt-guns down on the crowd.

Flashing spot-lights, a mirrored ball, colored lights and volumes of smoke help the DJ stir the already excited crowd into ever-increasing hyperactivity.

The dancing at Excalibur never stops, because the music never stops. There are four two-foot by four-foot speakers on the dance floor right in front of the stage. More speakers, smaller but powerful, are suspended from the ceiling circling the dance floor.

When not dancing, patrons can play pool, air hockey, video machines or darts. There are also booths scattered around near the two bars, and even a fireplace next to a food bar. Hot dogs, brats, burgers and barbecue chicken are available for $2.50 and less.

The nightclub is not a Metro-East secret. Many of the customers are from St. Louis. They come to the east side because of Excalibur.

Don Siles is a perfect example. The 20 year-old drives to Collinsville from St. Louis to meet girls.

"I like coming here because it's not a problem to have a mixed crowd here," Siles said.

Siles said that from where he's from the clubs are more racially segregated.

Danielle Knuckles is a 23-year-old who drove up from Marissa with friends to see what all the hype was about.

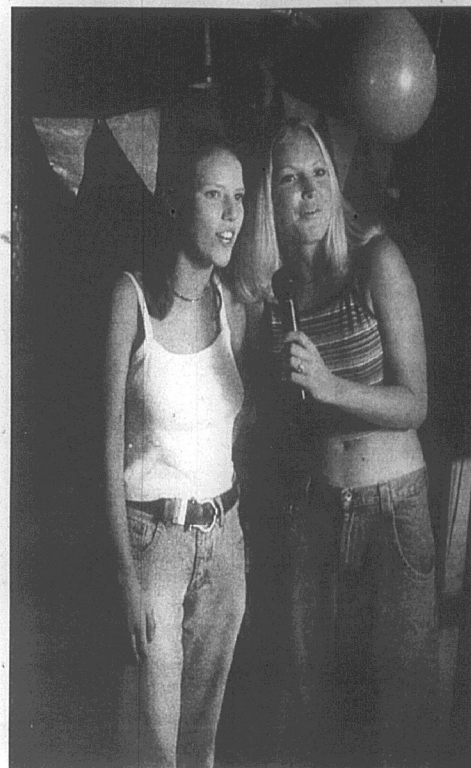

"We heard it was a cool place to come," she said.

Belleville resident Dawn Caplan, 21, has been working at the club for about two years. She is part of the security team at the front door, which greets guests and pats them down to make sure nothing dangerous or illegal is brought into the club.

"All kinds of people come here, it's fun for everybody. No matter what kind of person you are, you'll have fun here," she said.

Owner Joe Ruder said that within the next two months the club will be open seven days a week for full meals at lunch and dinner time.

Ruder has owned the nightclub for the past four and a half years. He was the DJ at what was then called Honkey-Tonk Heaven. Ruder bought the club, and changed the format from a country music scene to what it is now.

"It's more of a party-bar. We play a little bit of everything, with an emphasis on the dance stuff," Ruder said.

Ruder said the radio station known as The POINT has been with them from the beginning.

"We worked with The POINT for three years before the idea for the television show came along," he said. "They were approached by a producer, who does other shows. They talked with a couple of different people, then sat down with us."

Ruder said the show is basically a video format, but that plans are underway to transform it into more of an MTV-type format.

"We're looking at changing it to more of a 50 percent video and 50 percent crowd participation," he said.

The club has a strict security set-up ensuring that those who are underage will not be drinking alcoholic beverages. At least two security personnel check identification at the front door. Those 21 years-old and over get a bright yellow wrist-band on their right arm.

A patron under the age of 21 gets an invisible mark on the back of each hand which glows purple in the black lights, which are everywhere throughout the club. It's a double system which allows of-age patrons to buy a drink, and security personnel to spot an under age patron tipping a beer.

"We're one of the only clubs that's 18 and-up that's still around," Ruder said. "Most come and go within a year."

He attributes his emphasis on security for the success.

Tom Whitaker is the operations manager at Excalibur, and in charge of security. Besides himself and the two at the door, there are at least six other security persons walking the floors of the club, and two in the parking lot. Each member wears a high-tech walkie talkie, equipped with a combination headset carrying an ear piece and a microphone.

Whitaker said that at any given time there may be up to six other members of his team working the floor under cover. Their task is to blend in with the crowd and keep an eye out for underage drinking.

"We're one of the only clubs that's 18 and-up that's still around. Most come and go within a year."

Joe Ruder
Owner

"It's an 18 and over club, so we have to be sure we don't have underage drinking," Whitaker said. And he and his team take that job seriously.

On a recent Saturday night a young blond girl in a short dress catches the unwanted attention of security. She finds herself explaining to the guard, "It's really me. I dyed my hair and lost some weight."

"I'm really sorry," Whitaker says. "I'm not calling you a liar, I'm just saying it doesn't look like you."

The girl and her two friends are unhappy, but they quietly leave the club. Another customer who's just been carded isn't so gracious. She slams the door open in a rush, shouting at whomever may be responsible for ruining her planned night of fun.

Whitaker takes it all in stride as just part of the job. "Most of them don't want to leave, and they're trying to save face. They don't want to be embarrassed in front of their friends," he said.

"They're not used to being talked nice to by security. We call them sir or ma'am, they usually don't know how to act with that."

People briefs

General Mills Inc. announced last week that five special-edition boxes will feature U.S. soccer players Michelle Akers, Brandi Chastain, Mia Hamm, Kristine Lilly and goalie Briana Scurry. One player will be on the front of each box, with highlights of her career featured on the back.

This is the first time in Wheaties' 75-year history that a soccer player has been on the orange box.

"Every kid playing sports in America grows up with dreams of one day being on the Wheaties box," Hamm said. "It is an honor to join the other great athletes who have been on the Wheaties box."

The first of the boxes will appear in grocery stores this month.

Dozens of poor people in and around Bruce Springsteen's hometown can thank "The Boss" for their home repairs. A charity funded by Springsteen has quietly provided $350,845 in home improvements in Monmouth County since 1995, according to federal tax documents.

About $9,500 went to replace dilapidated floors in the Long Branch home of retired truck driver Marty Marotta, 75, and his family. Marotta uses a wheelchair.

"It really has been wonderful," his wife, Martha Marotta, told The (Newark) Star-Ledger. "It was hard for him (Marty Marotta) to even get around in the wheelchair."

Freehold's favorite son and his E Street Band recently completed a 15-date concert run at the Meadowlands. They are in the midst of their first U.S. tour together in more than a decade.

Sean Connery, who gave up his license to kill when he walked away from the James Bond movies, has a new title: "Sexiest Man of the Century."

Hispanic festival showcases cultures

By Bonnie Green
Correspondent

A banner proclaiming "Cultural Harmony and Community Unity is Our Goal" hung over Jefferson Barracks National Park last weekend, exemplifying the spirit of the Greater St. Louis Annual Hispanic Fair.

"It's a good way to share cultures, music and food," said Haniny Hillberg, founder and president of the Hispanic Festival Inc., which sponsored the two-day event last Saturday and Sunday. Hillberg is especially proud of the two scholarships presented each year to worthy students.

This year's scholarship recipients were announced at the opening festivities. Awardees were Janet Milton of Florissant and Mateo Flores, from Washington, Mo. Milton will study nursing, and Flores plans to study engineering.

More than 20,000 people attended the festival, estimated the event's public relations director, Abraham E. Rezex. Opening ceremonies also included a parade of children dressed in native costumes, with the Scott Air Force Base Color Guard presenting the colors and an introduction of this year's honorary chairman, local restaurateur Ramon Gallardo.

Gallardo stressed the importance of events like the Hispanic Festival.

"One of the most important things for an event like this is to bring the community together," he said.

Gallardo has been a part of the organization presenting the festival since its beginning seven years ago. "Latin America has so much to offer in terms of culture, food and art," he said. "The more we understand each other's likes and dislikes, religion and habits, the easier it is for us to work and live together," he said.

festival was a wonderful way to learn about cultures from all over the world.

"My origins are from Spain. When I was growing up in the Carondelet area of St. Louis I didn't even realize there were other Hispanic cultures in the city," she said. "It's fascinating to compare the differences and to see the similarities as well," she said.

More than 40 colorful booths ringed the festival grounds, offering tempting taste treats from several Hispanic-owned businesses and restaurants as well as merchandise for sale. Food booths featured native delicacies from Central and South America, Mexico, the Caribbean and Spain.

From Puerto Rico came pastillos de pollo, a chicken turnover. The Belize Club offered tamales and a savory dish made of rice, beans and chicken. There were chicken wings, cheddar peppers with jalapenos and the usual fair offerings of snow cones, funnel cakes and soft drinks.

The Spanish American Girls Society offered chorizo, a spicy Spanish sausage, and tortilla de patata, a potato omelette.

"There is a lot of nice stuff here," said Anita Daggendorf, a member of the Spanish American Girls Society, as she took a break from operating the booth offering Spanish foods. "This is the first year we have been with the festival. There is a lot to see and do here."

Native crafts and merchandise were offered along with the many foods. Everything from maracas, sombreros and serapes to silver jewelry was on display.

While festival visitors strolled past vendors, Latino music kept up a lively beat.

Susan Redinger of Wildwood attended with her family. "I love it," she said. "The weather is good, the food is great and the entertainment is wonderful. Everybody should come for the festivities."

Paul Mercado was celebrating completing his master's degree at Washington University, where he majored in Spanish. "This is the perfect way to recuperate from taking my exam," he said.

I say the worst change any sports team has made to its logo has been what the New England Patriots did to theirs. They used to have a Patriot at center about to snap the football. At some point, they moved from this great logo to one of a head with lines coming out of it to signify motion. The old logo was far superior.

you want at any price, strive to be prudent about your financial affairs. There are bargains out there if you'll simply make an effort to find them.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
The worst person from whom to seek advice today is a negative friend. Instead of encouraging you, this individual could put a damper on an endeavor about which you are hopeful.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
You've always been inclined to be of help or service to others when you see they are in need. However, today those you assist might have to first pass some pretty tough standards to qualify.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
Normally you're a patient person, but if things don't move fast enough for you today, you could be tempted to take some risks to accelerate the pace. This could impede your progress.

Trivia

It may be an antiquated idea that a team should stay in one place and keep its basic uniform design, though I wish it would happen again. I don't mind buying a team cap or T-shirt every once in a while, but I hate to see all of this moving around and changing names and logos. It's as if many of these franchises have joined the witness-relocation program to get away from the mob.

For this week's trivia quiz, the topic is sports franchises.

1. The Braves baseball team was based in what two cities before moving to Atlanta?

2. The Phoenix Coyotes hockey team used to play for what other city?

3. Which major league baseball team wore shorts as part of its uniform for a time in the 1970s?

4. What was the nickname of the Hannibal, Mo., minor league baseball team from 1908 to 1912?

5. Where did the NBA's Jazz originate before moving to Utah?

6. Slugger Boog Powell said he looked like a giant Bloody Mary while wearing what team's all-red uniforms?

7. Which pro football team at one time wore socks with vertical stripes on them, much to the dismay of its players?

8. Which pro hockey team is named after a kind of sword?

9. The Lakers moved to Los Angeles from what city?

10. The Rams football team originated in what city?

ANSWERS:

1. Boston, followed by Milwaukee.

2. Winnipeg, as the Jets.

3. The Chicago White Sox. The players were not thrilled by this innovation and the team went back to regular baseball pants.

4. The Cannibals. I would love to have seen their logo.

5. New Orleans. Why the team didn't change its nickname when it moved to Salt Lake City is a mystery. Many have pointed out there is little in the way of jazz music found in the city.

6. The Cleveland Indians.

7. The Denver Broncos, in the early 1960s while a member of the American Football League.

8. The Buffalo Sabres. 9. Minneapolis. This is another team name that should have been changed when it moved to a new location. L.A. is not known for its lakes.

10. Cleveland, so St. Louis is the third home for the franchise.

I will host the following upcoming trivia events: St. Louis Community College at Meramec Alumni Association Trivia on Saturday, Oct. 2, call 984-7551.

Kevin Carbery can be heard as a regular on "The Entertainment and Trivia Show" at 10 p.m. Sundays on KMOX Radio (1120 AM).

'Sixth Sense' tops box office

"Sixth Sense" haunts the box office once again, as the No. 1 movie.

It was deja vu at the weekend box office as "The Sixth Sense" took in $26.1 million to remain the country's top movie. The first film since Star Wars' "Phantom Menace" to repeat as No. 1.

The ghostly thriller starring Bruce Willis as a therapist treating a boy who talks to the dead, grossed $70 million in its first 10 days.

The Steve Martin and Eddie Murphy comedy "Bowfinger," about a luckless producer who tries to con his way into big-time show business, bowed in at No. 2 with $18.2 million in its first weekend.

Two movies had disappointing debuts. "Brokedown Palace," starring Claire Danes and Kate Beckinsale as Americans, jailed for drug smuggling in Thailand, came in ninth with $4 M.

"Detroit Rock City," a comedy about teens trying to get KISS concert tickets, opened with $2 million for a likely 13th place premiere.

"The Blair Witch Project" slipped from second to third place with $15.3 million, according to Exhibitor Relations Co. Inc. The horror film shot on a tiny budget, has grossed $108 million, most of that since it went into wide release three weeks ago.

"Sixth Sense" dropped just two percent from its opening gross of $26.7 million last weekend. Playing in 2,395 theaters, it maintained an impressive average of about $10,900 a screen.

The movie is expected to hit $100 million by next weekend, said Chuck Viane, head of distribution for Disney, which released the film.

If "Sixth Sense" stays atop the box office, it would match "Star Wars: Episode I - The Phantom Menace," which held the No. 1 spot in its first three weekends in May and June.

'Bye bye Birdie' at GC Summerstage

All-youth production plays until 22nd

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

An all-youth production of Bye Bye Birdie is being presented at Summerstage in Granite City through Sunday. Performances are at 7 p.m. today, Friday, and Saturday. There is a 2 p.m. matinee Sunday at the Summerstage Playhouse, 2906 Pershing in Granite City.

Bye Bye Birdie is the story of rock and roll singer Conrad Birdie (played by Richard Skirball Jr.), an Elvis-type character with a pompadour, thick sideburns, gaudy gold costumes and a rugged voice, who is about to be inducted into the U.S. Army.

His agent, Albert Peterson, is played by Jake Kamphoefner. Peterson is a very pleasant and mild-mannered person. His faithful secretary Rosie Alvarez (played by Amy Pennell) keeps Birdie and Peterson moving forward, and Rosie concocts one final national publicity plan before Birdie's induction.

He will bid a typical American teen-age girl goodbye with an "all-American" kiss.

The winner of this honor is Kim MacAfee (played by Amy Krieshok) of Sweet Apple, Ohio. The reaction of her father - Ryan Moenster, mother - Julie Mills, and her boyfriend - Andy Elliff, make up much of the play.

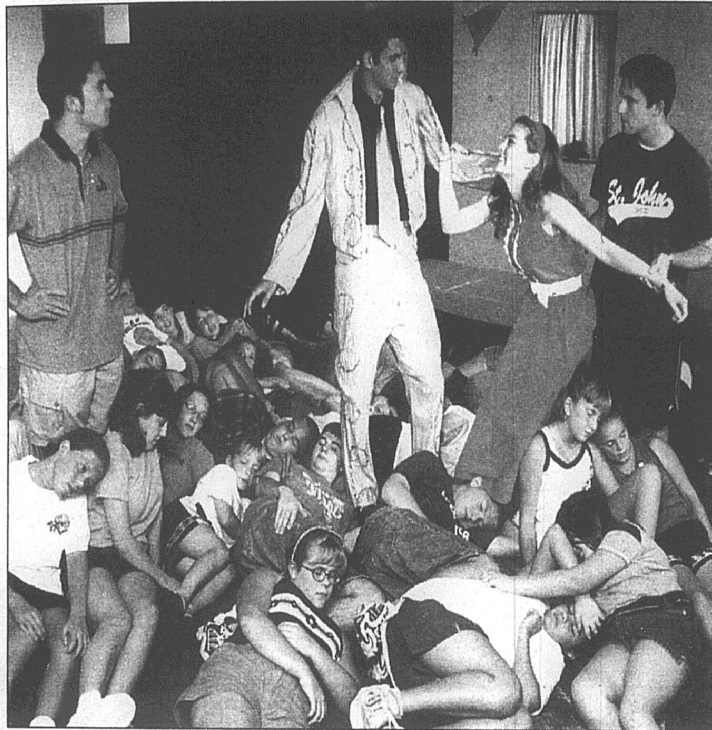

The production is being directed by Beverley Scroggins, speech and drama teacher at Granite City High School, and managing director at Summerstage.

Others in the cast include: Tom Petrillo, Tony Mell, David Elliff, Alexandra Batsios, Emily Halvachs, Jada Foster, Michael Vivod, Amber Schmisser, Andy Ravanelli, Amanda Rodgers, Tom Batsios, Tracy Hatley, Sarah Caudron, Courtney Dohnal, Hanna Foster, Emily Gavilsky, Polly Rose Goeckner, Katie Hubbard, Kristin Kambarian, Cory Ann Kennerly, David Koehler, Natalie Koehler, Laura Mills, Kaleigh Peery, Emily Reutebuch, Ariane Sendejas, Lauren Smith, Keeley Snelson, Kristen Wilson, Kayla Morelan, and Noelle Pecher.

Tickets may be ordered by calling 451-1032.
